

Workshop

Re-conceptualizing Families? Interdisciplinary and Comparative Perspectives on Assisted Reproductive Technologies as a Vehicle between Tradition and Modernity

14 June 2016 | 12:00 - 15:00

The Zygmunt Gutter Conference Room (room 303)

The Buchmann Faculty of Law, Trubowicz Building, Tel Aviv University

12:00-12:15 Introduction

Prof. Daphna Hacker, Buchmann Faculty of Law, Faculty of Humanities:
Women and Gender Studies Program, Tel Aviv University

12:15-13:15 Session 1

Prof. Ilana Löwy, CERMES3, Paris

Cannibal heredity: genetics and national identity in Brazil

Dr. Anna Zielinska, Jacques Loeb Centre for the History and Philosophy of the Life Sciences, Ben Gurion University of the Negev

ART in France, Germany and Poland: blood, history and legislative chaos

Dr. Mélanie Levy, The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics, Tel Aviv
University

Identity, genetics, and best interests: Defining new family forms through law – Judicial reasoning in an age of ART and medical tourism

13:15-13:30 Coffee Break

13:30-14:45 Round table discussion: The Israeli Debate on ART

Prof. Lior Barshack, Radzyner Law School, IDC Herzliya

Prof. Yael Hashiloni-Dolev, Tel Aviv-Jaffa Academic College

Prof. Shai Lavi, The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics, Tel Aviv University

Prof. Gad Potashnik, Ben Gurion University of the Negev