

Population and Ethics: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Birth and Death

Monday 26 September 2016
Cumberland Lodge
09:00 - 21:00

A one day colloquium to explore different perspectives on moral issues relating to human population. The event will draw on a growing body of population research from philosophy, demography and the social sciences as well as the experiences of those working in population policy, reproductive health, conservation and development.

Keynote Public Lecture:
Population Ethics and Earth's Carrying Capacity
Professor Sir Partha Dasgupta, University of Cambridge

Registration:

Day attendance: free of charge (online registration required)
Attendance with overnight accommodation: £80 (single occupancy) £40 (shared occupancy)

Rates include attendance at all sessions, the keynote lecture, lunch and the conference dinner

www.cumberlandlodge.ac.uk/populationethics

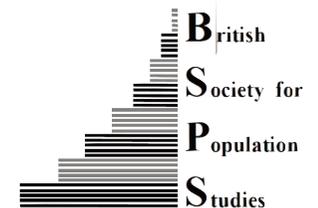

CENTRE FOR THE STUDY OF EXISTENTIAL RISK
UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Cumberland Lodge

exchanging views, inspiring minds

Population and Ethics Programme

- 09:00 Arrival and Registration
- 09:15 Welcome and Introduction
- 09:45 Procreation
"Procreative-Parenting, Love's Reasons and the Demands of Morality" - Luara Ferracioli (University of Amsterdam)
"The right to procreate, population momentum and the normative significance of avoidable risk"
- Karin Kuhlemann (UCL School of Public Policy)
- 11:15 Morning Coffee
- 11:30 Society
"Who Should Pay for the Costs of Children?" - Isabella Trifan (UPF, Barcelona)
"The Value of Longevity" - Greg Bognar (Stockholm University)
- 13:00 Lunch
- 14:00 Overpopulation
"Elementary relationships for long term population growth from an economic demography perspective"
- Martin Kolk (Stockholm University Demography Unit)
"Arguments for overpopulation" - Silvia Milano (London School of Economics)
- 15:30 Afternoon Tea
- 15:45 Environment
"Population, Climate Change, and Global Justice: A moral framework for debate" - Elizabeth Cripps (University of Edinburgh)
"Overpopulation and the Lifeboat Metaphor: A critique from an African Worldview"
- Beatrice Okyere-Manu (University of Kwazulu-Natal)
- 17:15 Conference Conclusions and Closing Statements
- 17:30 Break
- 18:00 Keynote Lecture
"Population Ethics and Earth's Carrying Capacity" - Professor Sir Partha Dasgupta
- 19:00 Conference Dinner

Cumberland Lodge
The Great Park
Windsor, Berkshire
SL4 2HP

Registered Charity No.: 1108677