

MAP

MINORITIES AND PHILOSOPHY

Florida State University's chapter of the Minorities and Philosophy Club invites submissions of abstracts for its Annual Graduate Philosophy Conference to be held on Friday, March 3, 2023.

Keynote Speaker

Brianna Toole

Associate Professor of Philosophy, Claremont McKenna College

Submission Guidelines

- Deadline: Friday, December 9, 2022, at 11:59pm.
- Length: Abstracts should be no longer than 500 words. Papers should be suitable for a 20–25 minute presentation.
- Subject Matter: Anything that explores the intersection of philosophy minority populations, including race, gender, class, sexuality, disability, culture, and/or native language minorities.
 - Helpful information in determining this can be found here and here.
- Submission Portal: Submissions should be made at the following link:
https://fsu.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_bkiawmr53hodT8O.
 - Abstracts must be prepared for anonymous review.

We particularly welcome submissions from philosophers representing minority or underrepresented groups!

Accepted speakers will be notified by Friday, January 13, 2023.

Please send any questions to Gabriel Tugendstein at gtugendstein@fsu.edu