

Call for Papers

April 1st, 2023

USF
4202 E. Fowler
Tampa FL
FAO 248

2023 Annual Conference
University of South Florida
Philosophy Graduate Student Organization

Death and Illness

Keynote: Dr. Joshua Rayman

Inviting submissions from graduate students working in all areas of philosophy, as well as from undergraduate students, for whom a parallel session is planned.

Topics:

*Existential and conceptual utility of death and illness as philosophical tools.

*The philosophical importance of death and/or illness insofar as they can be sources of knowledge and value for us.

3000 words or less + 250 word abstract (single document) to USFdeathandillness2023@gmail.com.

20-minute presentation + 10-minute Q&A.

Paper's title as the filename

Email subject: "USF 2023 – [your paper's title]"

Anonymize attachment for blind review

Email body: name, institution, grad/UG, email

Areas: existentialism, phenomenology, ancient thought, analytic philosophy, eudaimonism, feminism, medicine, care, mental health, Covid-19, and philosophy of science, interdisciplinary.

Limited hosting for graduate students!

D&I

Deadline: Feb 15th
Presenters Notified: Mar 1st