

Call for Papers: RADICAL PHILOSOPHY REVIEW Special Edition

...THE POINT IS TO CHANGE IT: 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE RPA

"Philosophers have only interpreted the world, the point however is to change it" - Karl Marx

The Radical Philosophy Review invites submissions for a special issue inspired from the theme of the 15th Biennial Radical Philosophy Association Conference (2022).

Special Edition Theme

The past several years have been characterized by an onslaught of crises and catastrophes: a global pandemic, a relentless lethal battle against racism, dramatic weather patterns and forest fires, the culmination of an imperial tug-of-war between NATO and Russia, gun violence (both state-sanctioned and otherwise), a battle against reproductive rights, and continual, multi-faceted economic hardship. We have a lot to critique, from neglectful and exclusionary healthcare policies, to inequitable and gendered care burdens, to systemic racism, to industrial perpetrators of climate change, and the entanglement of all this with the profit motive of capitalism and colonial logics. Now we shift our focus from critique to praxis. Because, along with our critiques, we are inspired to build anew as we divest from systems and structures that enforce injustice. Imagining a new world requires a bold and courageous imagination, one that is capable of conceiving radical new realities.

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMISSIONS

Manuscripts (of no more than 10000 words) should be sent as e-mail attachments (preferably in MS Word) to both guest editors of the special issue. Please attach two copies, one of which should be prepared for anonymous refereeing with all direct or indirect references to the author removed. Include an abstract of no more than 100 words, a short author bio, and email and mailing address. Citation style should follow the Chicago Manual of Style with abbreviated citations (only author, title, page number) and a list of references at the end of the article. Submission Deadline – Submissions are due by June 15, 2023.

Guest Editors:

Tiffany Montoya tiffany.e.montoya@gmail.com

Margaret McLaren: mmclaren@rollins.edu