Epistemic Networks & Bad Believing

A Workshop in Social Epistemology

Thursday, 16th of November 2023

09:00 – 10:30 Personality, social network, and natural language approaches to intellectual humility and its correlative vices
Mark Alfano (Macquarie University)
– via ZOOM –

11:00 – 12:30 Mandevillian Vices in Epistemic Networks
Mandi Astola (Delft University of Technology)

15:30 – 17:00 The Misinterpretation Effect: How Science Benefits from Evidence Misinterpretation
Dunja Šešelja and Matteo Michelini (Ruhr University Bochum)

17:30 – 19:00 Virtues, Vices, and Networks: How networks transform the epistemic impacts of individual behaviors
Cailin O'Connor (University of California, Irvine) – via ZOOM –

Friday, 17th of November 2023

09:00 – 10:30 The Role of Strong Ties in Holding (and Avoiding) Bad Beliefs
Sergiu Spatan (Dresden University of Technology)

11:00 – 12:30 Mutually Expected Rationality in Online Sharing
Patricia Rich (University of Bayreuth) and Emmanuel Genot (Lund University)

14:00 – 15:30 Climate Change and Social Identity
Sven Engeßer (Dresden University of Technology)

16:00 – 17:30 Epistemic Nudging as Antidote to Bad Beliefs
Thomas Grundmann (University of Cologne) – via ZOOM –

All times are Central European Time (UTC +1).

This is a hybrid event.

In person, at Open Science Lab, room OSL 3, Zellescher Weg 25, 01217 Dresden

Digitally, via Zoom, upon registration at: https://forms.gle/peQxFVrRTHGPTNBj8