

SPINOZA AND ANNE CONWAY: PANPSYCHISM, VITALISM, MONISM, AND BEYOND

An International Workshop in Early Modern Philosophy

Friday, 09 August 2024

Edgecliffe, Room 104, University of St Andrews

9:30–10:00: Welcome Coffee

Morning Session:

Chair: David Harmon (University of St Andrews)

10:00–10:45: Jonathan Head (Keele University) “Anne Conway and Spinoza: Critique and Feminist Connections”

10:45–11:30: Sarah Tropper (University of Graz) “Unity in Multiplicity: The Problem of Composition in Conway and Spinoza”

11:30–11:45: Coffee Break

11:45–12:30: Meg Gottschall (University of St Andrews) “Kabbalistic Themes in Conway and Spinoza”

12:30–13:15: Jasper Reid (Kings College, London) “Anne Conway and Francis Mercury van Helmont on Salvation, Time, Creatures, and Worlds”

13:15–14:30: Lunch

Afternoon Session:

Chair: Alexander Douglas (University of St Andrews)

14:30–15:15: Antonio Salgado Borge (University of Nottingham) “Spinoza’s Mentalist Panpsychism”

15:15–16:00: Nastassja Pugliese (Federal University of Rio de Janeiro) “Mental Causation in the Vitalist Epistemologies of Conway and Spinoza”

16:00–16:15: Coffee Break

16:15–17:00: Valtteri Viljanen (University of Turku) “Spinoza, Conway, and Three Different Early Modern Forms of Panpsychism”

19:00: Dinner

Attendance is open to all. Email dh212@st-andrews.ac.uk to join the mailing list.

Organised by David Harmon and Alexander Douglas, with the generous support of:

University of St Andrews

SCOTS
PHILOSOPHICAL
ASSOCIATION

St Leonard's
Postgraduate College

BSHP

British Society for the History of Philosophy