

BRIEF PUBLICATION FORMAT

Title Page:

Center the Title of your Article:
If it has a Subtitle, put it under the Title,
Use the same size of Letters (14-16 pt), Bold, Times New Roman

Your first and last name¹
Department of, University of youracademicemail@email.edu

The first and last name of your first co-author (if any)²
Department of, University of yourfirstcoauthoracademicemail@email.edu

The first and last name of your second co-author (if any)³
Department of, University of yoursecondcoauthoracademicemail@email.edu

¹ Your academic position and major academic qualifications, SCOPUS and/or ORCID ID numbers, mailing address where correspondence regarding this article may be submitted, (2-5 brief sentences).

² Your first co-author academic position and major academic qualifications, SCOPUS and/or ORCID ID# (1-3 sentences).

³ Your second co-author academic position and major academic qualifications, SCOPUS and/or ORCID ID# (1-3 sentences).

Second Page:

Center the Title of your Article:
If it has a Subtitle, put it under the Title,
Use the same size of Letters (14-16 pt), Bold, Times New Roman

(DO NOT WRITE YOUR AND YOUR CO-AUTHORS' NAMES HERE OR ANY OTHER INFORMATION THAT MAY IDENTIFY YOU OR YOUR INSTITUTION)

Abstract

250-300 words;

Single-spaced;

Bold, 12 pt, Times New Roman, Calibri, Arial, or similar font. No italics, underlining, or quotation marks.

Use a single professional academic format (APA, Chicago, MLA, etc.) and avoid mixing several formats.

APA: <https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/paper-format>

Chicago: <https://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/home.html>

MLA: <https://www.easybib.com/guides/citation-guides/mla-format/>

Resources: <https://owl.purdue.edu/>

Keywords: List 4-6 keywords that are not already included in the title.

Third and subsequent pages:

Introduction

Text is single-spaced, 12 pt, Times New Roman.

Literature review

Methods

Results

Tables and graphs must be easily readable and correctly numbered..

Table 1. Write the title of your table here.

Calibri or Arial (11 or 10 pt)

Figure 1. Write the title of your figure here.

Discussion

Conclusion

250-300 words

Bold, 12 pt, Times New Roman, Calibri, Arial, or similar font (matching the font of your Abstract).

No italics, underlining, or quotation marks.

The conclusion must state the main purpose, original contribution, academic importance, and scientific impact of your research.

References

List only the references used in your text. If you did not reference a particular source in your manuscript, do NOT include it here.

APPENDIX

(if any)

FINAL CHECKLIST BEFORE SUBMISSION:

Before submitting your manuscript for editing, peer review, and publication in Christianity in the Middle East, write your name initials under each category, confirming that,

1. I am the author of this submitted academic article, which is my original work that has not been previously published electronically or in a hard copy in English or another language and has not been simultaneously submitted to another publisher.

Sign your name initials here: _____

2. My submitted academic article is within the thematic scope of Christianity in the Middle East.

Sign your name initials here: _____

3. My submitted academic article contains between 6,000 and 20,000 words, but no more than 40,000 words including tables, footnotes, references, and appendices. The article's Abstract is between 250 and 300 words, and the Conclusion is also between 250 and 300 words. The References only list publications referenced in the body of my manuscript. All Tables and Figures are correctly numbered and titled, easily readable, and directly relevant to the research.

Sign your name initials here: _____

4. My submitted academic article conforms to recognized international academic standards (Chicago, APA, etc). If my research requires a special non-standard format, I have contacted and received approval from the editor.

Sign your name initials here: _____

5. My submitted academic article is an error-free text written in fluent academic English (or Russian). I spell-checked my manuscript (e.g., MS Word spell checker). If I am not a native or bilingual speaker of English (or Russian), my manuscript has been reviewed and edited by a native or bilingual speaker who is an expert in the field. I understand that linguistically deficient submissions will not be considered.

Sign your name initials here: _____

6. I have NOT used the works of others, including AI-generated outputs, without correctly referencing them in each instance. My submitted academic article is free of plagiarism. I understand that all submissions are checked for plagiarized content and AI-generated text.

Sign your name initials here: _____

7. I am submitting my completed manuscript of this research as DOCX and PDF files on or before 31 October 2025 to ac.research.uni@protonmail.com.

Sign your name initials here: _____

8. I understand that Christianity in the Middle East Special Issue 2026 is a SCOPUS-indexed professional scholarly journal of which all published manuscripts must pass the editorial and double-blind peer review. Thus, the mere submission of my manuscript does not guarantee its publication. The possible outcome of an academic article submission is as follows: (i) accepted for publication, (ii) accepted for publication pending the author's review according to editorial and/or peer-review recommendations, or (iii) not suitable for publication in Christianity in the Middle East.

Sign your name initials here: _____

This checklist is provided to assist authors in ensuring that their submitted manuscripts meet the required rigorous standards of SCOPUS-indexed academic publications. It is not necessary to submit this checklist with your manuscript.