

2016 Cambridge Graduate Conference in Ancient Philosophy
Archai and Geneseis: Theorising Origins in Ancient Philosophy

University of Cambridge, Faculty of Classics
March 18-19, 2016, Room G. 21

Thursday 17th March

17:00 Reception at the Cast Gallery

Friday 18th March

09:00-09:30 Registration, Tea and Coffee

09:30-11:00 Keynote: Dr Barbara Sattler (University of St Andrews):
“Origins in Plato’s Timaeus”

11:00-11:15 Tea Break

11:15-12:30 Claudio Barone (University of Palermo):
“‘Cosmogonies’ in Metamorphoses”

12:30-13:30 Lunch (provided)

13:30-14:45 Máté Veres (Central European University): “Keep calm and carry on: Sextus Empiricus on the origins of Pyrrhonism”

14:45-15:00 Tea Break

15:00-16:15 Natalie Enright (University of Leeds): “The origin of psychic illness according to Plato’s Timaeus”

16:15-17:30 Andrey Darovskikh (Central European University): “The power of Semen:
Aristotle and some Galen’s fallacies”

19:00 Conference Dinner

Saturday 19th March

09:30-11:00 Keynote: Dr Shaul Tor (King’s College London): “Xenophanes’ rejection of theogony”

11:00-11:15 Tea Break

11:15-12:30 Bram Demulder (University of Leuven): “Beginning or Beginnings? Plutarch on Platonic Cosmogony and Cosmic Cycles”

12:30-13:30 Lunch (provided)

13:30-14:45 Bryan C. Reece (University of Toronto): “Aristotle on the Starting-Point of Motion”

14:45-15:00 Tea Break

15:00-16:15 Jenny Messenger (University of St Andrews): “Extending the Golden Chain: Iamblichus’ Ancestors”

16:15-17:30 Tommaso Longo (University of Milan): “Back to the origins of ethics: Archelaos on to dikaion”

