

THE LEGACY OF DONALD DAVIDSON
GRADUATE CONFERENCE
YORK UNIVERSITY (ROSS S421)
27-28 APRIL 2017

THURSDAY (27 APRIL)

9:15-9:30

Coffee & registration

9:35-10:35

Opening address

Claudine Verheggen (York University):

The Continuity of Davidson's Thought

10:45-11:35

Devin Curry (University of Pennsylvania):

Davidson's Theory of Mind is Normative. Should it be?

Commentator: Ben Winokur

11:45-12:35

Pedro Abreu (New University of Lisbon &
The Nova Institute of Philosophy):

The Constitutive Interpretability of Thoughts and Meanings:
A Defense Against Two Objections

Commentator: Olivia Sultanesco

13:45-14:35

Quitterie Gounot (Cornell University):

Why should I care about the person I want to become?

Reasons Internalists and Proleptic Reasons

Commentator: Alex Leferman

15.00-17.00

Keynote address

Bjørn Ramberg (University of Oslo):

Working Disagreement:

On Davidson's Dynamic Conception of Content

FRIDAY (28 APRIL)

10:00-12:00

Keynote address

Robert Myers (York University):

Holism in Action

12:10-13:00

Griffin Klemick (University of Toronto):

Davidson's Promise for Metaethical Naturalism

Commentator: David Rocheleau-Houle

14:10-15:00

Nathan Howard (University of Southern California):

Buck-Passing and the Quasi-Davidsonian

Conception of Normative Reasons

Commentator: Sam Steadman

15:30-17:30

Keynote address

Sarah Stroud (McGill University):

Irrationality and Inconsistency, or, How is Self-Deception Possible?