

Announcing the Call for Papers for the
20th Anniversary Session of the Southern Appalachian Undergraduate Philosophy Conference
The University of North Carolina at Asheville
February 8-9, 2019

Our symposium provides a professional-style philosophical forum for aspiring undergraduates to present significant and original work. All papers will be evaluated by blind review process. At the conference, judges from universities with important graduate programs will award prizes for the top three presentations.

We are honored to announce that our judge and keynote speakers this year will be:

Dr. Vrinda Dalmiya [University of Hawai'i]

Dr. Chris Cuomo [University of Georgia]

In addition, in celebration of 20 years of wonderful undergraduate conferences, we will be holding an opening reception on Friday Feb. 8 for all participants and any alumni of the UNCA Philosophy Program or of the conference.

Please submit each of the following as separate MS Word files to mburchar@unca.edu:

- ◆ a paper (approximately 10 pages or 3000 words)
- ◆ an abstract (150-200 words)
- ◆ a separate cover sheet with name and affiliation

Papers on any philosophical topic are welcome. Papers should be designed for a 20-minute presentation time [approximately 10 standard double-spaced pages]. The paper should not contain the author's name or institutional affiliation.

Abstracts should be attached to the paper, should be one paragraph, double-spaced, no more than 150 words. These abstracts should not contain the author's name or institutional affiliation.

Cover sheets should be on a separate sheet, and should contain the title of the paper, the author's name, and the author's institutional affiliation, address, e-mail address, and phone number.

Submissions must be received by Monday, NOVEMBER 26, 2018
Participants will be notified by December 15, 2018
