

NOVEMBER 6-7 8TH ANNUAL GRADUATE STUDENT WORKSHOP IN APPLIED PHILOSOPHY: "IDENTITY AND INTERSECTIONALITY"

Keynote: Dr. Olufemi O. Táíwò, Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Georgetown University

Presenting: "The Man-Not and the Dilemmas of Intersectionality."

Friday, Nov. 6 3:10-4:40pm (EST)

Workshop Topic Description: Human beings identify themselves and each other in numerous ways. Many of these identities – like race, gender, sex, sexuality, ethnicity, ability/disability status, and nationality – have important normative ramifications. Further, the concept known as intersectionality tells us that the interrelation of multiple identities often leads to increased discrimination or disadvantage. Graduate students from across the US will present their work on a range of topics related to this critically important area of research. See schedule on the next page for more details.

To our guests with disabilities, please indicate if you need special services, assistance or appropriate modifications to fully participate in this event by contacting Accessibility Services, access@bgsu.edu, 419-372-8495. Please notify us prior to the event.
