

ic.SoAP.2021

1st of May 2021

Geneva/Cyberspace

Due to the COVID-19, the meeting will take place in Cyberspace via Zoom

Please, send us an e-mail at the philo.ic.soap@gmail.com to receive the link

Programme

09h	Opening
09h15	Open-ended Schemata in Absolute Generality Léon Probst – Università della Svizzera italiana, Lugano, Switzerland
10h	The Combination Problem Dissolved İbrahim Hansu – Boğaziçi University, Istanbul, Turkey
10h45	Coffee break
11h	Essential Properties Are Not Enough Antonio Freiles – Università della Svizzera italiana, Lugano, Switzerland
11h45	How to understand the prudential value of so-called negative emotions Mathilde Cappelli – University of Geneva, Switzerland
12h30	Lunch break
14h	Field's Nominalism and Infinite Cardinality Maximilian Petrowitsch – Università della Svizzera italiana, Lugano, Switzerland
14h45	The warm glow from giving, its nature and motivational power Robin Timothée Bianchi – University of Geneva, Switzerland
15h30	Is the Method of Cases Truth-Conducive? : Experimental Philosophy, Intuitions and the Method of Cases Santiago A. Vrech – Utrecht University, Netherlands
16h15	Coffee break
16h30	Why did the chicken really cross the road? : Conceptualizing reasons without language Martin Niederl – University of Vienna, Austria
17h15	Closing remarks Are inconsistent concepts fragmented beliefs? Barbara K. Haas – University of Vienna, Austria [cancelled by the speaker]

Organisers

Michal Hladky – Phileas, University of Geneva

Kyryll Khromov – Phileas, University of Geneva

Federico Donato – Ratio, Università della Svizzera italiana – Lugano