Graduate Conference in Politics, Philosophy & Law

Saturday 4th & Sunday 5th December 2021

Call for Abstracts

In a joint effort of the Departments of Political Economy, Philosophy and Law at King's College London, we would like to invite all graduate students and early career researchers interested in legal, moral and political philosophy to participate in the first Graduate Conference in Politics, Philosophy & Law. The conference will take place on the first weekend of December 2021, and we hope to host it in person on the Strand Campus of King's College London. The conference aims to give graduate students and early career researchers the opportunity to discuss work in progress in a collaborative, productive and stimulating environment. Participants will have the chance to receive feedback from discussants, faculty members, other presenters and attendees. We welcome contributions on any topic in legal, moral and political philosophy, and we particularly encourage participation from students and researchers from historically under-represented backgrounds.

We welcome anonymised abstracts of around 700 words by Sunday 5th September 2021 at this Application Form.

Graduate Conference in Politics, Philosophy & Law

Saturday 4th & Sunday 5th December 2021

Application Procedure

To apply, please send an anonymised abstract of around 700 words by Sunday 5th September to this Application Form. You will be asked if you would like to be a respondent to the paper of another participant, as well as if you would prefer to give a poster presentation (A2 in size) rather than an oral presentation. We will notify successful applicants by Sunday 26th September. Selected participants will be asked to provide a full paper of around 5,000 words by Sunday 7th November. The conference will take place on Saturday 4th and Sunday 5th December 2021.

Funding

Participants are expected to cover their travel and accommodation expenses. We may be able to provide some limited travel grants for presenters who would otherwise not be able to attend.

Keynote Speakers

Candice Delmas is Associate Professor of Philosophy and Political Science at Northeastern University and the Associate Director of the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics Program. She works in moral, social, political, and legal philosophy. She is the author of A Duty to Resist: When Disobedience Should Be Uncivil (Oxford University Press, 2018). She received a Ph.D. in Philosophy from Boston University, a M.A. in Philosophy from Georgia State University, a Master 2 in Ethics and Politics from Université Paris IV Sorbonne, and a B.A. (Licence and Maîtrise) from Université Paris X Nanterre. During 2016-17, she was a Dworkin-Balzan Fellow at the New York University School of Law Center for Law and Philosophy. She serves as Associate Editor at Res Publica and Analysis Reviews.

Victor Tadros is Professor of Criminal Law and Legal Theory at the University of Warwick. He was educated at Oxford University (BA Hons) and at King's College, London (PhD). Prior to joining Warwick in 2006, he held lectureships at the University of Aberdeen and the University of Edinburgh, and in the fall of 2015 he was Carter Visiting Professor of General Jurisprudence at Harvard Law School. From 2010-13 he held an AHRC Research Grant, with Antony Duff, Lindsay Farmer, Sandra Marshall and Massimo Renzo, to work on criminalization. He held a Leverhulme Major Research Fellowship from 2014-2018, and was elected as Fellow of the British Academy in 2018. He is an Associate Editor at Ethics.
